

Changes to your prescription length

From 1 February, people with stable, long-term health conditions may be able to get prescriptions that last up to 12 months.

Most medicines are still dispensed at three monthly intervals.

Ask your doctor if you could be eligible.

Find out more at info.health.nz/Prescriptions